

The creation of Indiana's "Telephone Privacy Law" is one of the smartest things done by our legislature in 40 years. No corporation, business, salesman, solicitor or even individuals should be allowed to call a person on his phone without his expressed permission! Sales calls are not just annoying. They are an invasion of a person's tranquility, as well as their privacy. If a person has a "non-published" or "unlisted" number, that person is saying "DON'T BOTHER ME"! And, with the amount of crooks and thieves trying their various phone scams, I consider all unsolicited calls a call from a crook. Keep the privacy Law in effect! I would like to see it made stronger!
